

UK Integrated Freight Transport Team Visits DDC

Four members of the British Defense Logistics Organization (DLO) and Integrated Freight Transport Implementation Group (IFTIG) visited the Defense Distribution Center (DDC) on January 27, 2003 to discuss gaining efficiencies in the processing of routine items.

“This has been a fantastic opportunity to benchmark with an excellent organization,” said Squadron Leader James Bridgman, the IFTIG Team Leader. “DDC’s workload is much larger than ours and DDC’s processes are very efficient.”

The group learned more about Hub and Spoke stock positioning, End-to-End Distribution, Strategic Distribution, the Distribution Planning Management System and Enhanced Distribution Standard System. They also reviewed the numerous transportation programs handled in DDC’s Logistics Support Division.

After the briefings, the group toured the Defense Distribution Depot Susquehanna, Pennsylvania’s (DDSP) Eastern Distribution Center, the largest Department of Defense warehouse.
