

DDSP Wins the MTMC Shipper Performance Award for 2001

By Stacy L. Umstead, DDC Command Affairs

On April 19, 2002, Vice Admiral Keith Lippert, SC, USN, Director, Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) presented Ms. Jerri Taylor, DDSP Transportation Officer, with the 2001 MTMC Shipper Performance Award. DDSP won in the category of "Large Shipper".

The MTMC Shipper Performance Award is part of MTMC's on-going drive to improve documentation timeliness and accuracy for shipments moving through the Defense Transportation System. Competition for this award is very keen. Over 1,000 shippers are considered for 13 awards in four distinct categories. Award selection exemplifies an organization's commitment to quality documentation.

"DDSP is very lucky to have such experienced personnel in the Transportation Division," Ms. Taylor said, "They are real professionals who work very hard to get the job done right. Being at the end of the line in the depot process plus the interface with the commercial carrier industry and the customer presents challenges each and every day. Nothing is ever boring in Transportation but the Division doesn't do things in isolation. The other DDSP Divisions have to do their part so that we have the information we need to move the cargo. Other key DDSP Divisions keep the automation running, the facilities operating smoothly and making sure we have the resources we need to do our jobs efficiently. It is a team effort at DDSP all the way. The MTMC Award is just one more validation that as a team we accomplish great things together. I'm proud of all the employees who work at DDSP, they've earned this award!!"
